Starter Series
Cloud Services Kit

Do you face ever increasing storage demands for your critical files? Are multiple copies of the same file your only answer to employee collaboration needs? Do you need access to your data and email from anywhere at any time? Are the costs to provide and maintain secure, high availability storage more than you want to spend?

Regardless of your size, these needs are pervasive and until now, very expensive to accommodate. But now with Fogline's Starter Series Cloud Kit, you can have all of these services, scaled to meet your needs and your budget. Without purchasing and maintaining internal servers and storage arrays, backup applications, security, remote access, and more—our Cloud based offering provides all of these and much more at an affordable and predictable price. Secure access to email and data from anywhere and on any device, an intelligent document repository available via the web, the ability to share and collaborate with other team members — all of these are readily available to you without the hassle of purchasing internally hosted equipment.

Let us configure your Cloud Service Kit today.
